Introduction

Your right of appeal

If it has not been possible to offer your child a place at your preferred school, you have the right, by law, to appeal to an independent appeal panel.

We understand how important making decisions about your child's education and schooling are to you. We know that deciding to appeal and going through the appeals process can be a worrying and anxious time.

With this mind, we hope that the information contained in this leaflet will serve to simplify and clarify the appeals system. You will find a step-by-step guide to making an appeal. It will take you through each stage of the appeal process, explaining what happens at each point and tell you what you need to do.

Deciding to make an appeal

If it has not been possible to offer your child a place at your preferred school, you may decide that you want to exercise your right of appeal against this decision.

When considering whether to appeal, it is important that you are aware that although the law allows you the opportunity to appeal against admission decisions, it does not give your child the right to a place at a particular school. There is no guarantee that your appeal will be successful. If you are appealing for a place at a particular school, you should make arrangements for a place at an alternative school in case your appeal is unsuccessful. Accepting a place at another school does not affect your right to appeal concerning a place at the school you would prefer.

The admissions arrangements for secondary schools in Westminster are published in the booklet "Westminster: Your choice for secondary education", and for community primary schools in the booklet "Westminster: Your choice for primary education". These can be viewed on the Westminster website at www.westminster.gov.uk/admissions and will also be available at libraries in the City of Westminster, or directly from the School Admissions Team based at Kensington Town Hall, Hornton Street, London W8 7NX (tel no. 020 7745 6433 and email: schooladmissions@westminster.gov.uk).

Completing the Appeal Form

- Complete the appeals form using black ink or typescript.
- Include as much information as you can, particularly in section 4, which asks you to give your reasons for wishing to appeal. Here, you should explain, as fully as you can, the reasons why you want your child to attend the school that you have been refused. If you do not think that your application has been treated correctly or fairly, or in accordance with the admissions criteria, then you should explain why you think this is the case. Attach additional paper if you need to.
- If there are new medical factors involved in your reasons for appealing (ie which have arisen since your original application for the school was made) it is important that these are supported by a letter from your doctor. This should be sent with your completed appeal form.
- You may include any other letters, correspondence, written reports or documents to support your case.
- Ensure that your form is returned to the School Admissions Team at Kensington Town Hall, Hornton Street, London W8 7NX by the required deadline.
- Please make sure that you have included as much information as you can and that you have enclosed all the supporting documentation for your appeal. This is important because, if, for any reason, you do not attend the hearing then the panel will make a decision based on your written submission only.
- Your completed form, and any additional papers that you submit with it constitutes your written case for appeal. It will be sent to all members of the admission appeals panel in advance of the appeal hearing.

Preparing for your Appeal

Westminster City Council will make arrangements for your case to be heard by an independent admissions appeal panel. Your appeal will normally be heard within 30 school days of receiving your appeal form, or in the case of admission to reception class appeals or secondary transfer appeals within 40 school days of the closing date for appeals.

The council uses a number of neutral venues for appeal hearings. You will receive notice, at least 10 school days in advance, of the time and place of your appeal. The hearing will normally last for about 15-20 minutes but there are no restrictions if more time is needed.

Before the hearing date you will also be sent the papers for your case. These will include:

1. the names of the panel members and clerk (if not previously notified of these).
2. a copy of your appeal form;
3. a copy of any supporting information submitted with your appeal;
4. a written statement from Westminster City Council (LA) or the school/academy explaining how places were allocated at the school and why your child was not offered a place at the school;
5. any further information specific to your individual case.

Before the day of the appeal hearing you might wish to prepare yourself by:

- Looking at the procedures for the hearing.
- Making a note of any questions you may have about your appeal.
- Making sure you have looked at the LA/school/academy case (which is included in the papers you will have received for the hearing).
- Spending some time deciding what you would like to say when the panel invites you to explain your reasons for wanting your child to attend your preferred school. The panel will have already had the opportunity to read through your written statement and supporting documents prior to the appeal, so it will not be necessary for you to read out your entire appeal paperwork verbatim.
- Reading your appeal form and ensuring that you have submitted all the paperwork to support your appeal.
- Deciding who will attend the hearing. You may bring a member of your family, a friend or other representative with you to help you make your case or simply to give you support.
- If you need an interpreter or any other type of assistance to help you at your hearing, please ensure that you state this on your appeal form.

The Appeal Panel

What is an independent appeal panel?

The law requires that your LA must make arrangements for you to appeal to an independent appeal panel if the LA has not met your preference for the school you wish your child to attend.

The composition of the appeal panel and the procedures it follows when appeals are governed by School Admissions Appeals Code issued by the Department for Education.

The appeal panel can either refuse or allow your appeal. It has no other powers. The panel's decision is binding on the school and LA.

The Panel Members

Your appeal will be heard by a panel of three people who are completely independent of Westminster City Council and the school/academy for which you are appealing. The panel will include at least one person with experience in education or who knows about education conditions in the area, or is a parent with a child at a school. The panel will also include at least one "lay" member, who is someone who has no personal experience in managing a school or providing education, other than as a governor or in another voluntary capacity.

Who will be present at the appeal hearing?

1. The panel members (three people). These are the only people who will be making a decision on your appeal.
2. Yourself and anyone else you may choose to bring with you.
3. An officer from Westminster City Council and/or a representative from the school. The LA officer/school representative plays no part in the decision making process and is not present when the appeal panel make their decision.
4. The clerk to the appeal panel. The clerk is independent of the school/academy and the LA. The clerk will be present when the decision is made (to take notes), but plays no part in the decision making process.

Attending the appeal hearing

You are strongly advised to come to the appeal hearing as this is your opportunity to put your case to the panel. If you cannot attend, your appeal will be considered on the basis of whatever written information you have provided.

We recognise that some parents may find attending an appeal hearing a daunting experience. There are set procedures which must be followed but the proceedings will be as friendly and informal as possible. Everyone there will try to help you be at ease.

What will happen on the day?

After introductions by the chair of the panel, the proceedings at the appeal hearing will follow the order set out below:

1. The case for the LA/school/academy, put forward by an officer from Westminster City Council or a representative from the school or academy. This will explain why your child has not been given a place at your preferred school.
2. You (or your representative) and the panel can then ask questions
3. You (or your representative) will be asked to put your case. You should explain your reasons for wanting your child to attend the school. The appeal hearing is confidential and you should include all information that is relevant to your case. You will not be able to add anything after the hearing.
4. The Westminster LA/school/academy representative and the panel then may ask questions
5. Summing up by the Westminster LA/school/academy representative.
6. Summing up by you or your representative. This is the opportunity to highlight the main reasons for your appeal or to add anything you may have forgotten.

After your appeal, you and the LA/school/academy representative will be asked to leave. The panel will then make their decision in private. The clerk will remain to note their decision.

The panel's decision

The appeal panel will consider all the information that you and the LA representative have presented to the hearing. They will usually make their decision as to whether to allow or refuse your appeal on the same day as the hearing, or, if there is more than one appeal for the same school, on the day of the last hearing. The clerk will normally write to you to inform you of the panel's decision within five school days of the appeal hearing.

How does the panel make their decision?

1. Appeals for children aged 5 to 7 entering infant classes

These will be for children entering into the Reception Year, Year 1 or Year 2.

The law requires that infant classes of 5,6 and 7 year olds may not normally contain more than 30 pupils with a single teacher. As such, there are only three grounds on which appeals in this category can be upheld.

- If the panel finds that the admission of additional children would not breach the infant class size limit.
- The panel finds that the admission arrangements for the school did not comply with admissions law or were not correctly and impartially applied and the child would have been offered a place if the arrangements had complied or had been correctly and impartially applied. Here, the panel must be satisfied not only did the arrangements not comply with admissions law or were not correctly and impartially applied but also the child would have been offered a place if the arrangements had complied or had been correctly and impartially applied.
- The panel decides that the decision to refuse admission was not one which a reasonable admission authority would make in the circumstances of the case. Please note that the law defines 'unreasonable' very narrowly in these cases and it means a decision which was "perverse in the light of the admission arrangements", i.e. it was "beyond the range of responses open to a reasonable decision maker" or a decision which is "so outrageous in its defiance of logic or of accepted moral standards that no sensible person who had applied his mind could have arrived at it.". The panel must use the legal definition of 'unreasonable', and not their own personal definitions.

If the panel decides that the answer to any of the above categories is yes then your appeal may be allowed. Otherwise your appeal will be refused. Please note that the panel may also take into account the practical consequences for the school and the children in relevant infant classes if any or all the appeals were to be successful.

If the panel finds that the admission of additional children would not breach the infant class size limit then the panel will go on to consider the appeal as described in Stage 2 of Appeals for all other children as described on page 9 below.

2. Appeals for all other children

There is a two stage process for deciding these appeals.

Stage 1 – factual stage

The panel must consider if the school's published admission arrangements comply with the mandatory requirements of the Admissions Code and Schools Standards and Framework Act 1998 and were applied correctly in your case or if the admission of an extra child would 'prejudice' the provision of education at the school.

If the panel decides that the admission arrangements were applied incorrectly and that your child would have been offered a place had they been applied they will uphold your appeal. Similarly if the panel decides that the admission of an extra child would not prejudice the provision of education at the school they will uphold your appeal. Otherwise the panel will go to stage 2.

Stage 2 – the balancing stage

The Panel will consider your reasons for wanting your child to attend the school. They will decide whether your reasons for appealing for a place at your preferred school outweigh the school's or LA's reasons for refusing you a place.

Further Guidance

This booklet is intended as a simple guide for parents who find themselves involved in the appeals process. If you have questions or queries which are not covered in this guide, you can contact the Westminster School Admissions Team on telephone number 020 7745 6433 or email: schooladmissions@westminster.gov.uk.
